What's New In?

AutoCAD adds the ability to insert pre-drawn or imported symbols, such as text and lines, quickly and easily, and to locate symbols for a drawing in different formats: AutoCAD Drawing Views and the searchable Global Symbols Catalog. Enter edit mode with a keystroke: For the first time, you can enter edit mode with a keystroke, making it easier to do work in a drawing without stepping through the drawing. Dynamic labels: Allow up to 4 objects to be the focus of a dynamic label, and control whether the label appears behind or in front of the objects. (video: 1:33 min.) AutoCAD is improving the way you're able to work with bitmap image files with support for transferring bitmap files to the Clipboard, bitmap drawing mode for bitmaps, and the Open As Bitmap menu option. How to convert HSM files to DWG and DXF: Save a lot of time and effort with integrated conversions. Just open the file and click Convert and you're done! (video: 1:33 min.) AutoCAD is improving the way you're able to select objects with dynamic techniques, such as the new drawing context system, with the addition of the dragging operations (AutoLocate and AutoSelect) and a new tool (Markup). AutoLocate: Support for the global symbol catalog, including more search filters. A new technology for drawing views called Markup Scoring allows you to see how each view affects the overall score, with a focus on areas of the drawing that will impact your drawing.
