The tutorials for new users can be invaluable for learning how to use Photoshop and setting up and modifying photos so that they look professional. No matter how good an image is, you can never get good results from an image without a few basic tweaks. Working with the Editing Process in Photoshop Photoshop can be used to perform the following functions: Increase and decrease contrast: The functions for increasing and decreasing the contrast in an image are two options from the Develop menu (as described in Figure 6-4): Image Enhancements⇒Adjust Color⇒Contrast. The slider bars at the bottom of the dialog box show the effect of using the contrast controls. Figure 6-4: The Adjust Color⇒Contrast options. Increase and decrease saturation: After you open an image in Photoshop, the Adjust Color⇒More Tools⇒Enhance⇒Adjust Color⇒Contrast dialog box opens up with options to increase and decrease saturation, as shown in Figure 6-5. Figure 6-5: Use the sliders to increase or decrease the saturation of a photo. Inserting and deleting layers You can copy one or more layers to create a new layer. You can also combine layers to create a combined layer. You can delete a layer to get rid of it. To create a new layer, go to Layers⇒New from the main menu. Then open the image that you want to add a layer to. Simply click the New Layer icon in the lower-left corner of the Layers panel. The New Layer dialog box opens, as shown in Figure 6-6. You can now edit the new layer the same way you'd edit any other layer in the image. Figure 6-6: Click the New Layer icon in the lower-left corner of the Layers panel to insert a new layer. You may have many layers in an image, which can make the interface confusing. The Layers panel (as shown in Figure 6-7) displays the currently open layers, along with a number, which represents the number of layers. To open a new layer in the image, click the number next to the name of the layer in the Layers panel. Figure 6-7: Click the Layers panel to find out which layer you want to edit. Q: MySql: Best way to write a report via PHP I'm working on a project and would like to know what would be the best way to write a mysql data dump file using PHP. I'm planning to use the mysql GUI to export my data, but I was wondering if there's a better way? I'd like to be able to 'save' an exported file and be able to view it in another program - such as Word. I was thinking something along the lines of: $con = mysql_connect('localhost', 'root', 'root'); $db = mysql_select_db('users', $con); $query = "select * from users where email='example@mail.com'"; $result = mysql_query($query); $nrows = mysql_num_rows($result); $i = 0; while ($row = mysql_fetch_array($result, MYSQL_ASSOC)) { echo ".$row['name']."; echo ".$row['surname']."; $i++; } mysql_free_result($result); $con = mysql_connect('localhost', 'root', 'root'); mysql_select_db('users', $con); $query = "select * from users"; $result = mysql_query($query); if ($result === FALSE) { die('Query failed: '. mysql_error()); } $nrows = mysql_num_rows($result); echo "There are $nrows records"; This will output an HTML report of the table structure, but I'd like it to also look like this: +-------+----------+----------+ | id_num| firstname | surname | +-------+----------+----------+ | 1 | bob | dean | | 2 | clare | eames | | 3 | sam | dantes | +-------+----------+----------+ Basically, how can I format the HTML so that the report looks like the above table?

I would say that "entitlement" is something that has been made to be an actual issue by the bully and that the bully is behaving badly. Bullies use "entitlement" to make their bullying seem "legal". You are probably right. The definition of "entitlement" in the American Heritage Dictionary is the one I used above. I think it leaves out the possibility that the bully had a legitimate reason to bully someone. But when you consider that bullies do not often have reasonable explanations for their bullying behavior, then you can understand why the word "entitlement" describes a bully who is behaving unjustly, but leaves out the bully's subjective feelings of righteousness and justification.
