(NASDAQ:EA) today announced FIFA 22, the most authentic and complete game in the FIFA franchise. Developed by the team that brought you the Official FIFA 17, FIFA 22 delivers the most complete FIFA experience to date and includes the new signature features introduced in FIFA 17, including Direct Vision Control (DVC), which enables players to feel the ball on their foot and react instantly. Since the launch of FIFA 17, we've heard your feedback. Today, we're giving you the opportunity to experience what DVC feels like in FIFA 22. FIFA 20 gameplay is defined by potential, creativity and unpredictability. Two weeks into EA Play, we've seen a wide variety of games on the show floor that demonstrate the full spectrum of what's possible with EA Play. We asked some of the best creators and players in the gaming industry what they're most excited about and the unanimous answer is FIFA 22. "We are extremely excited to see how FIFA 22 builds on the features and content from FIFA 17 and FIFA Ultimate Team, and from what we've seen from Play this week at EA Play, this new edition of the game is going to be unlike anything else. We know that the fans of the game have been playing it your PS3 you need to download and install Sony's Media Navigator software (Windows only). It's free., but not their cause, develop interest. Of course, they'll be no-shows at the march, but hardly any of them are going to show up at the ballot box, since they're all either selling arms to the Egyptian people or lobbying the Egyptian government, so their interest in dictatorial and militaristic tendencies in Egyptian society has nothing to do with their own. So why are we having this march if it's only going to give Egyptian citizens a false sense of patriotic sentiment? Why are we pretending that the Egyptian state is democratic enough to merit a march like this? If they're going to turn the public square into a military show and turn off the water and electricity, why are we perpetuating the myth that everything is fine? Why do we continue to pretend that the events are going to look good on the evening news? Aren't we undermining the protests, legitimizing the state, and essentially turning a social movement that was against the military into a pro-military march? Update: BBC reports that the army's heavy-handed repression of the protests, including the violence they continue to commit in the streets, may be a factor in the layoffs of around 2,000 public servants. One statement released by the Ministry of Public Service says: "a portion of the government service staff, especially those working in the civil service and public health and education sectors, is assigned with em

EA SPORTS FIFA is the world's leading videogame simulation of authentic football. With FIFA, players create and control a team, train them in real-world locations, play to fans in live games and tournaments, and manage everything from players' hairstyles to team kits. FIFA is football's best-loved sport fully realized inside the game. What's New in FIFA 22? New player model and animations. The way players move and run during gameplay has been improved to make the game more lifelike, giving players on the pitch a more realistic feeling. New animations have also been created to give players a more natural and realistic running style, while also making them more agile in game. New movements and spins. New ball movements have been included in gameplay to provide players with a more realistic touch of the ball during handling and shooting. New First Touch System. The new First Touch System uses a 3D vision method that analyzes players' characteristics and the players' potential and makes more accurate predictions on when players will hit the ball and where it will go. True Player Kicks. The True Player Kicks technology ensures that the player feels and sees the ball more realistically when making a player kick, providing more realism and control when performing these actions. New Player Voice. The new EA SPORTS FIFA 22 game engine allows for more diverse and powerful team voices in addition to improved animation of team members. What's new in Pro Clubs? Professional contract negotiations. Players now have the opportunity to negotiate contracts with clubs, players and managers using their desired transfer targets. This allows players to boost their wages by negotiating better deals with their new clubs. More control over release date decisions. More control has been given to players, allowing them to request release dates for their teams. Not only will there be more accurate release date information for clubs, but players can now choose which transfer dates to release their players and take advantage of more transfer market opportunities. New transfer system for managers. In addition to negotiations for players, managers can now make more realistic transfer decisions by using the new Transfer Market System. They can make longer term decisions to replenish their squad, or make deals that might stretch their budget. What's new in Contracts? Contracts progress over time. In FIFA 21 Contracts automatically upgraded with the most recent
